Tech Park intern chosen to participate at National NCAA Student-Athlete Development Conference

Out of over 500 student athletes at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, University of Nebraska Technology Park administrative intern Adrion Hernandez was chosen to participate in the National Student-Athlete Development Conference. The conference will be held May 24 – 27 in Orlando, Florida at the Walt Disney World Coronado Spring Resort.

“The conference is to better enhance volunteer efforts of student-athletes,” said Hernandez. “It is really an honor. I was really surprised to be nominated and even more surprised to be chosen.” The Academic Center staff, who offers academic support to student-athletes, nominates athletes to attend the conference. Three were nominated, but only Hernandez was selected to participate. 700 student-athletes will attend the 2009 national conference.

Hernandez began his gymnastics career at the University in 2007 as a walk-on. He quickly earned a spot competing in several events, such as the floor exercise, vault and high bar.

In 2008, Hernandez suffered a shoulder injury which ended his ability to compete during the season. Hernandez continues to provide academic success as a Big 12 Commissioner’s Honor Roll student and adds academic excellence to the NU gymnastics’ squad. He hopes to be able to perform in the 2010 season.

The new year brought two new interns to the University of Nebraska Technology Park
